Customer Case Study – Total ID continue to meet the Royal Falkland Islands Police’s ID card needs

Total ID, one of the UK’s leading ID solutions providers, has recently provided the Royal Falkland Islands Police with an additional Magicard Rio Pro Duo Card printer to provide greater security, contingency and ensure the country’s ID needs continue to be met at all times.

Total ID initially provided The Royal Falkland Islands Police in 2012 with their ID card system which included the Magicard Rio printer as the ideal solution to produce all their photo ID requirements.

Built for professionals, the Magicard Rio Pro Plastic ID Card Printer's superior card printing quality is complemented with a full range of options and its double-sided printing was perfect for the police’s ID needs.

The Rio Pro printer’s built-in card security feature – HoloKote, prints a secure watermark on each card’s surface and is personalised according to the type of card being produced to add a greater level of security.

Superintendent McGill of the Royal Falkland Islands Police said ‘The Total ID system we have in place enables us to effectively add a layer of security to the cards produced and help differentiate and more importantly protect them, according to their specific use.’

‘It is important to us at the Royal Falkland Islands Police to have reliable suppliers and we have been exceptionally pleased with the service provided by the team at Total ID. They respond to all our questions quickly and efficiently, ensuring we are able to continually meet our licencing and ID requirements.’ concluded Superintendent McGill.

Andy Roberts, Managing Director at Total ID said ‘Despite being literally on the other side of the world it is fantastic that we at Total ID have been able to meet the needs of the Royal Falkland Islands Police. We always focus on delivering the best possible service and value to our customers and the fact that they have continued to place their orders with us since 2012, including the latest orders, is a real testament to this.’
